

BIDS RECEIVED

By New Council for Construction of Bridges

Contracts May be Let at Adjourned Meeting Thursday Night

—Other Notes.

The city council met last night in regular session, all members were present and the minutes of the last meeting were read and approved.

The petition of Thomas Geraghty to grade Eighth street, between Harrison and Sexton free of charge, he to have the dirt, was referred to the street committee with power to act.

Reports of the Finance committee on the report of the treasurer and superintendent Ong were concurred in. The treasurer reported notes and interest due amounting to $4604.27, which the clerk was instructed to pay off.

The report of H. G. Linn, secretary of the city board of health, was received and placed on file. The report recommended cleaning up of alleys and streets and taking other health precautions.

The report of ex-street commissioner Vance was received and placed on file. Certificates of election and oaths of office of Frank J. Hall, Harry Lakin, Mart. Spivey and James O. Craige, officers-elect, were received and ordered received. Their terms of office begin September 1st.

The contract for tapping water mains was awarded to the Chas. Worth company of this city at $4.75 for 1/2 inch tap; $5.50 for 3/4 inch, and $6.25 for one inch tap.

A motion by Brann, that the street commissioner see that the streets are put in proper condition after gas mains and street car tracks are laid was taken by consent.

The bids on the Ninth street and Sexton street bridges over the Foutz ditch were then opened, and read to the council, but there were so many bids, and each contained several propositions, so that council was unable to decide on them and a motion to let the contract at an adjourned meeting next Thursday night was carried. There were eight bidders on the bridges, among them being Phil. Wilk, Stewart & Caldwell of this city. The bids ranged from about six to twelve hundred dollars, with many and different propositions, and no conclusion could be reached by any one who heard the bids read. City attorney Megee sprung a surprise at this point on the council and the audience by saying that the city need not build those bridges unless it wanted to, and that the bids being over $500, the township would have to construct them.

The committee on streets and alleys were directed to secure measurements and probable cost of a change in ditches on Gosnell avenue, the drainage of which was reported to be bad by Councilman Brann.

A wash-out on Harrison street was reported to the council and the street commissioner was ordered to look after it.

The question of the right of the attorneys for the city agreeing to let the decision in the People's Gas Co. case govern that in the case of the Central Fuel Co. was questioned and city attorney Megee said that if the council had not authorized any such agreement, the same ought not to be concurred in, and a motion to repudiate and not concur in any such agreement was carried unanimously.

The clerk was ordered to notify the marshal to prohibit the further pattering of crows.

A letter was received from the Pennsylvania Company in reference to exchange of some real estate, and a committee was appointed to confer with the company's representative.

Weaver's claim for salary up to the end of the month for which he claims to have been employed, amounting to twenty dollars was not allowed, but the council did allow him for the six days he actually served as policeman.

The claim of George W. Young for services as attorney for the city was filed for the sum of $430, and was rejected. A motion by Smiley that he be paid at the rate of $200 per year for the time actually served was carried.

The largest number of bills ever allowed at a single session of the council oil were allowed last night, and included the bills of election officers, besides the regular claims.

The council adjourned to meet Thursday evening at 7:30.

MAY BE RAISED

Hearst the Trust Buster to Organize One of his Own.

Hearst, who has been posing as the trust busting candidate for president seems to be on the eve of organizing one of his own.

News dealers at Richmond have received warning from Milwaukee of an alleged attempt that is being made to organize a Sunday trust in Chicago and boost the price per hundred of Hearst's Sunday Chicago American, the Sunday Tribune and the Chicago Sunday Record-Herald from $3.25 to $5.00.

The notice local news dealers have received says that Hearst's Chicago American is the principal factor in the scheme and that W. R. Hearst, who poses in his papers as the enemy of trusts is himself guilty of trying to form this trust and thus get back some money spent on politics. The notice concludes with the following significant appeal: "This is a case where all news dealers should stand together and oppose the common enemy, Hearst's Chicago American."

With the price at $5.00 per hundred it would be necessary for the news dealers to charge 7 or 8 cents for the Sunday papers in order to make any profit.

COMMITTEES

Were Appointed Last Night—are Now at Work.

At the meeting of citizens and guarantors at the court house last night, the several committees reported the progress they have been making up to this time.

Hon. James E. Watson reported that all the guarantors except about twenty had paid five dollars, and T. M. Greenlee was appointed to collect the balance of that money.

Will Havens reported that he had in his possession a specific contract by which Warfield & Wilson would agree to put up the 100x30 foot two story building, only drawing the money as they needed it, if they were paid $2500.

The matter was discussed at length, the advisability of a condemnation proceedings was talked of and all present agreed that it would be better to pay the difference and not injure the firm of Warfield & Wilson, but in fact help them.

A number of citizens were reported as being willing to assist in paying the difference.

In order to compromise in this matter, however, it was necessary to get the signature of each guarantor to an agreement to accept this compromise in lieu of proceedings in the ordinary way and Lon Link and Donald L. Smith were appointed to see the guarantors and have them sign it.

The meeting adjourned to meet at the court house Friday evening, at which time the committees will report.

Nearly Shot to Death.

A special from Greensburg to the Indianapolis Journal says that Nora, the six-year-old daughter of Mr. Morgan, a blacksmith at Springhill, six miles north of that city, narrowly escaped being shot to death yesterday. Ralph Burk, seven years old, was visiting at the Morgan home, and picking up a shotgun, he pointed it at Nora, with the remark: "I will shoot you." The girl was in the adjoining room and answered: "I am not afraid; the gun isn't loaded." Almost at the same instant there was a report and the load of shot struck the floor a few feet in front of her, and glancing up, literally filled her face and body. Had the boy been strong enough to hold the gun up a moment longer, the whole charge would have struck the little girl full force. A physician picked out thirty shot, and reports chances for recovery very good.

Beauty and Brains Combined In Woman

By Miss MARY COLEMAN, Prominent New York Lawyer

It is a theory of long ago that a woman who is beautiful is NECESSARILY not an intellectual one. In the olden days when a woman was fair that was considered all sufficient. HER FACE WAS TRULY HER FORTUNE, and it mattered little whether she had a cultured mind, or, indeed, if she had a mind at all. If a woman was daring enough to choose to be an individual and determined to enter upon a career, one and all alike concluded that she must be utterly wanting in personal charms. A woman who elected to aid humanity either by law or medicine was always supposed to be without beauty or grace and was at once put down BY HER SISTERS as a dowd.

But all this was long ago. The American woman has proved that a beautiful woman may also be a CLEVER and an intellectual one. She stands well out as an example of what Gladstone declared to be a perfect one.

"WOMAN," SAID THE GRAND OLD MAN OF ENGLAND ON ONE OCCASION, "IS MOST PERFECT WHEN SHE IS MOST WOMANLY."

WILL SUE CITY

Ex City Attorney Young Will Begin Proceedings

To Recover Pay for Services Rendered—Contract Expired in November.

Attorney George W. Young, who has been employed by the city for some time past will sue the city for $430 for services.

Mr. Young has been acting for the city since November, without contract and maintains that if he is not employed by the year as per contract, he must have been employed without a contract, and is entitled to the compensation usually allowed in such cases.

His bill for services was as follows: For services in the case of City vs. Rushville Gas Company, $150, or the same as Judge Forkner was allowed. In the case against the People's company, $100. In the case against the Central Fuel company, $50. In the case of Alexander vs. the L. E. & W. Ry Co., and the city, $10. Twelve meetings of the city council at $10 each, $120, or a total of $430.

Immediately upon presentation of the bill, a motion that they not allow it was passed and a motion to allow Mr. Young from the 15th of last November up to the date of his dismissal at the rate of $200 per annum, was carried which makes but $42.77.

This amount Mr. Young refused and is now making preparations to bring suit against the city.

JUDGE GOODING'S BOOKS

Sold for a Song at Greenfield Saturday.

An auction took place at Greenfield Saturday afternoon, when the personal property of the late Judge D. Gooding was sold. Before his death, Judge Gooding gave part of his fortune to his daughter and son, but the remainder was put under the hammer. Much of the goods was purchased by people, who mixed sentiment with their desire to add furniture to their homes; others bid on pieces hoping to secure them because of their oddity in shape and finish. Hundreds of people were present to participate in the sale.

Articles that could not have been purchased for less than dollars in some instances went for 5 and 10 cents. Books valuable for their age, as well as for their contents, were sold for almost nothing. Thirty-nine volumes of Indiana reports, bound in calf, brought the best price, $35 being paid for them. Many of the books, bearing the copyright date of the last century, were knocked down for pennies. In all the goods netted a trifle over $100, a sum equal to the value of one-tenth of the property.

Twenty-five tons of Mexican tiles of various designs were used in laying the floors of the Mexican national pavillion at the World's Fair.

AT REUNION

Watson and Miers Two Indiana Congressmen to Deliver Addresses.

(Greensburg News)

Col. M. D. Tackett has been successful in getting Congressman Robert W. Miers, of the Second District, and Congressman James E. Watson, of our own district, for orators at the Soldiers' and Sailors' reunion in this city on June 11.

The management was indeed fortunate in their selections. Robert W. Miers is an able speaker, is a Decatur county boy by birth and is very popular with the "boys in blue," being one of their number and an especial espouser of the soldiers' interests in Congress and in the Departments.

James E. Watson is almost a Decatur county boy by adoption. He is not only popular with the soldier boys, but with the masses of our people. While as an orator he has not an equal in the State of Indiana and very few in the whole United States.

The selection of speakers for the day insures a large crowd on the 11th, both of soldiers and citizens.

THE GILLESPIE CASE

Continuation of Evidence Brought Out by State

Rising Sun, Ind., May 18.—Much interest is taken in the testimony advanced at the Gillespie trial. Wm. H. Whitlock, Fred Hess and John Bird-sall, lumber mill men, testified that they were near the Gillespie home on the night of the shooting; they heard the shot, but saw no one run. Whitlock went into a detailed description of the lights in the vicinity of the Gillespie home on the night of the shooting.

Everett Downey and Otto Woodburn testified that the night before Thanksgiving Myron Barbour entered the shop at which both were employed and placed a box of shells upon the table. Downey said they were 16-gauge shells.

Benjamin Harris, hardware merchant, said that he sold a box of shells to Myron Barbour the night before Thanksgiving. He said they were black-powder shells, but he did not know the brand. Harris said that he had heard of two 16-gauge shotguns in Rising Sun in addition to the one owned by James Gillespie. Harris further testified, however, that he had only heard of the weapons and had not seen them.

Hugh Anderson, foreman of the grand jury which indicted the four defendants, was called and asked about shells that had been submitted to that body. The defense objected to the introduction of testimony adduced before the grand jury.

William Johnson told of an occurrence when James Gillespie came into his store just as Elizabeth was leaving. James said: "When you get tired of that thing just fire her out. You will have to do it sooner or later."

The McDonald Jury.

Bedford, Ind., May 18.—The work of securing a jury in the case of James McDonald, charged with the murder of Miss Sarah Catharin Schafer, last January, was completed late yesterday afternoon and the state began its presentation of evidence today. The jury is as follows: Stephen Chess, William T. Reynolds, Charles W. Pearson, Walter K. Darnell, James L. Barrett, Thos. J. Wood, Samuel Scoggans, William C. McPike, Stephen Speer, Joel L. Hobbs, John Hunter, Jr., William E. Allen.

LOOK FOR BATTLE

Japanese are Reported to Have cut Russia's Retreat Northward

Unbeknown to Their Enemies the Japanese got an Army in to the Northeast of Mukden.

Mukden, May 18.—It is announced here that the main body of the Japanese force is advancing on Haicheng (about ten miles southeast of New Chwang) and Kalping (Kaichou, about thirty-five miles south of New Chwang) and that a smaller force is marching in the direction of Liao Yang. Important developments are probable.

London, May 18.—No further news has reached London throwing light upon the appearance of Japanese troops northeast of Mukden or indicating by what route they reached that point so unexpectedly. The Japanese are so successful in hiding their movements that it is only possible to guess at them from the vague indications in Russian official dispatches. According to a Tien Tsin correspondent General Kuropatkin has left for Harbin, Vice-roy Alexieff still being at Liao Yang with 20,000 troops.

A question greatly discussed in the London papers today is whether General Kuropatkin has succeeded in ascertaining that the Japanese are threatening his rear so near the Mukden line and has been enabled to begin a retreat, or whether he has elected to fight. In any case it is considered that any day may bring news of a great battle in this district, as the transport difficulties are believed to be so great as to make it almost impossible for General Kuropatkin to effect a rapid retirement.

Indefinite reports continue to reach London of Japanese bombardment of Port Arthur and Dalny. The report that General Kuropatkin's aggregate forces for the impending battle do not exceed 100,000 men has been confirmed.

Shanghai dispatches report that the Chinese are greatly gratified at the Japanese invitation to the Tartar viceroy of Mukden to re-establish the administration of Antung and induce Chinese traders to return and resume business.

A correspondent at Shan Hai Kwan, cabling under date of May 17, says that the Japanese troops landed at Kai Chau both Sunday and Monday, meeting with opposition. A New Chwang correspondent cabling under date of May 17, says: "The Japanese with a large fleet of transports and warships, appeared at Kai Chau yesterday morning and opened a terrific bombardment against the shore defenses, which were silenced by 4 o'clock in the afternoon, the Russians retreating to Tashi Chao. The Japanese troops landed and are today advancing rapidly, outflanking Tashi Chao and New Chwang."

RUSSIANS GAVE UP

Lack of Opposition Gave Japanese Great Advantage.

St. Petersburg, May 18.—Advices received by the general staff show that the Japanese are practically masters of all of the southern end of Liao Tung peninsula, save Port Arthur and the territory commanded by its guns. This result, so promptly brought about, is due to the failure of the Russians to make opposition of any consequence to the Japanese advance.

A member of the general staff said that the removal of the guns from the fortifications erected at King Chau and the construction of Port Dalny were primarily for the purpose of concentrating the entire Russian force at Port Arthur. If the men and guns were scattered the effect would have been to distribute the means of the defense of the fortresses over a number of points strategically weak. The destruction of Dalny was the result of no sudden determination, but was due to the probability that a force attempting to hold this place could be separated from Port Arthur and captured, thus inflicting further loss of prestige to the Russians, which could not be permitted at this time. To defend the whole of the southern end of the Liao Tung peninsula it would have been necessary to have an army equal to that which the Japanese could have landed.

The weakness of the Manchurian army, said this officer, left only one course to pursue, namely that of mobilizing sufficient troops at Port Arthur to hold it until relief came.

New Band Practices.

The new city band lately organized, under the direction of Mr. H. H. Allen, held its first practice last night in the dancing hall in the Poundstone building, recently occupied by the Ypsilanti club. At present the band has fifteen members, all of whom are experienced musicians. The membership is soon to be increased to twenty-four. The band has been organized as a concert band and will soon appear on our streets. The band will play for the Union Decoration services of the fraternal orders in this city on Sunday, June 5th. As yet no uniforms have been decided upon and the prospects indicate that Rushville will soon have one of the best concert bands in this part of the State.

Manager Tebeau, of the Louisville team wants one of Cincinnati's pitchers.

Louisville won a fifteen inning game from St. Paul yesterday, by a score of 10 to 7. Jackson, of the St. Pauls made two home runs during the game.

The game that was to have been played here tomorrow has dropped out, but on Thursday of next week, the Nebraska Indians will be here sure. They will play at Greensburg Friday and Saturday following.

Commercial Tribune: George Larkin, manager of the Athletics, is ready to book games with any team in the three States. Louisville, Lexington, Batesville, Rushville, New Richmond, Indianapolis, North Vernon, Shelbyville, Chillicothe, Portsmouth, Celina, Dayton, O., preferred. Address George Larkin, 1809 Reading road, Cincinnati.

Too many people rate a pitcher by the number of strike outs he makes during the game as was noticed in a Shelbyville paper in commenting on Sunday's game when it said that "Smith clearly out pitched the much touted Pruitt by striking out 15 men to Pruitt's 9." "It would be folly to argue this point as any one who knows anything about base ball knows better, and this point is so clearly demonstrated in the New York-Pittsburg game yesterday, where the "much touted" McGinnity only struck out one man to Phillippe's nine. But McGinnity won his game by a score of 7 to 0, and gave the opposing batters but two hits while the Giants secured eleven hits off the "strike out" pitcher.

Congressman Broussard, of Louisiana, never spoke any English until he came to Georgetown University at the age of fifteen, and even now he probably uses his mother tongue—French—with the greater fluency.

STILL IN THE AIR

Illinois Republican Deadlock Remains Unbroken. Springfield, Ill., May 18.—The deadlock in the Republican state convention continues. Balloting was resumed this morning at 11 o'clock, with no sign of a compromise in sight. Following the 38th ballot last night the convention took a recess until this morning. The vote on this ballot was as follows: Yates, 490; Lowden, 393½; Deneen, 441½; Hamlin, 113; Warner, 37; Sherman, 2; Pierce, 25. During the afternoon an effort was made to have Mr. Lowden get out of the race, and suggestions along this line were made to him by a large number of those who have been friendly to him. He was told that it was now evident that the Yates people would not, under any circumstances, give him enough votes to bring about his nomination. The more loyal of Lowden's people refused to listen to this talk and they urged their candidate to stand firm. They argued that he was the only one of the anti-Yates candidates who had shown any considerable amount of outside strength, and that there was no reason for him to quit. An attempt to combine the anti-Yates delegates on Warner was futile for the reason that Hamlin and Sherman refused to discuss it and Deneen laughed at the proposition. Some of the Deneen delegates got together and prepared a telegram to President Roosevelt protesting against the activity of the federal employes in behalf of Lowden. Older heads in the delegation pointed out that this would be suicidal, as Deneen might want the assistance of the federal influence later, and the message was not sent.

Real enjoyment is had when reading that clever magazine, The Smart Set.

IN GREAT DEMAND

People of Indiana Anxious to Hear Standard Bearers.

Indianapolis, May 18.—Nearly a hundred requests have already been received at the Republican state committee rooms for speeches from Senator Fairbanks, Senator Beveridge and J. Frank Hanly, the candidate for governor, during the ensuing campaign. Most of the requests are very urgent, showing that the people in the localities from which they come are very eager to hear the Republican standard bearers. The request are being carefully filed by C. C. Lyons, who will be chairman of the speaker's bureau and will receive further attention when the campaign opens. It was stated at the committee rooms today that the speaking campaign will probably not open before the middle of September. There seems to be a desire, however, in many parts of the state to get in early and avoid the rush for the favorite speakers.

Chairman Goodrich and Secretary Sims have about straightened out the vexatious tangle over the application of the "excess vote rule" in electing delegates in the joint legislative districts. The purpose of the rule, as before stated by your correspondent, is to equalize matters so that the minority counties will be able to name the candidate where the majority county has one or more. The rule has worked very well where there was a minority county, although the party workers in some places have grumbled. The trouble arose principally in the joint districts, where all of the counties had representatives. This was especially true of the "shoe-string" district of Miami, Howard, Huntington, Grant and Wabash counties. Each has one or more representatives. The application of the new rule would have worked a hardship in a number of places. Elam Neal of Jonesboro, Eleventh district chairman, has been here conferring with Chairman Goodrich and Secretary Sims, and the decision was reached to nominate as in former years if all the county chairmen agree. Neal has issued a call for a meeting of the county chairmen at Marion Thursday afternoon at which the matter will be decided. The decision may be regarded as a precedent for other counties. Secretary Sims is now working on the vote of all the districts for the purpose of giving to the public just what each county is entitled to.

It has been definitely decided that unless there is some unexpected necessity for a meeting here that the Indiana delegates to the Republican national convention will not get together until they reach Chicago. It has been the custom, however, for the delegates to meet here and to decide on a policy and to organize, and there is considerable speculation as to why the old plan was abandoned. It is rumored that the meeting has been indefinitely postponed because a number of so-called leaders were bent on "smoking out" Senator Fairbanks on the question of whether or not he will accept the nomination for vice president or be a receptive candidate. The senator has preserved a dignified course in the matter, and his close friends do not propose that he shall be annoyed, and it is hinted that they have had something to do with the postponement of the meeting. It is rumored that either Senator Beveridge or Chairman Goodrich will be made chairman of the delegation. The latter is ready to look after Senator Fairbanks' interests to any extent that is demanded.

Considerable satisfaction was expressed here today among Republican leaders over the renomination of Congressman Elias T. Holliday, by the Fifth district, for a third term. He is the only old soldier member of the Indiana delegation, and for that reason they were very anxious to have him renominated. There was a friendly feeling for Otis E. Gulley of Danville, and Senator James S. Barcus, but it was generally felt that the party's interests at the polls would be strengthened more by the nomination of Holliday. The latter has never been regarded as a smooth politician, but he has been able to win out in the face of some pretty stiff opposition. The Fifth is normally Republican, and he expects to be re-elected by the old-time majority. George Self of Corydon, candidate for reporter of the supreme and appellate courts, is the only old soldier candidate besides Holliday on the Republican state and congressional tickets.

Chairman Goodrich said today that there will be no meeting of the Republican state committee in the near future so far as he knows. There has been no call and none is contemplated. The committee is working on the routine of the campaign, which is absolutely necessary at this time. Hundreds of letters are being sent out from both the Republican and Democratic state committee rooms for the purpose of getting the party workers enthused and ready for the opening of the fight. Each committee is now receiving the returns from the six months poll, although but few counties have reported. As a matter of course none of the officials are willing to state what the returns up to this time indicate.

Lockout Settled. Chicago, May 18.—The lockout of the lime, stone and concrete teamsters has been settled by giving the men a straight eleven-hour a day work and an advance of 60 cents a week. This agreement brings to a close the controversy between the teamsters and members of the building material men and manufacturers which affected nearly 25,000 men.

SPIRITED CONTEST

Large Measure of Politics In Meeting of Federation of Women's Clubs.

St. Louis, May 18.—With more than 2,000 accredited delegates seated in the auditorium and almost an equal number of alternates occupying the first dozen rows in the balcony, the seventh biennial convention of the General Federation of Women's clubs convened in the main hall of the Odeon.

It is one of the most representative gatherings that has ever attended a biennial of the federation, and nearly every state and territory of the United States has sent large delegations. In addition to the delegates, prominent club women are present from many foreign countries, representing women's clubs that, while not affiliated with the general federation, are closely identified with it through mutual spheres of activity.

Another feature that tends to make this biennial one of unusual interest to the club women of the country is the strong competition that attaches to the election of officers. The political side of the biennial promises to be very pronounced, and the supporters of the several candidates have been active for some time in the interests of their principals.

The opening session was called to order by Mrs. Dimie T. S. Denison of New York city, president of the general federation. Mayor Rolla Wells of St. Louis delivered the formal address of welcome on behalf of the city of St. Louis. The response was made by Mrs. Denison. Fraternal greetings were extended by Mrs. K. W. Barrett of Georgia, president of the National Council of Women, and other prominent club women.

Previous to the convening of the federation, the council held a meeting at which amendments to the constitution were considered. The most important of these refers to the election of officers. Hitherto it has been the custom to have a nominating committee present the names to be voted upon. It is proposed to change this system, and in the future present the names before the convention. Then a nominating ballot will be taken and all but the two candidates who receive the highest number of votes shall withdraw. The delegates will then choose by ballot, one of the two. This proposal will be laid before the convention at an early session.

The presidential question is the paramount issue among the delegates. It is discussed almost to the exclusion of other subjects. At the several state headquarters the names of Mrs. Philip N. Moore of St. Louis, Mrs. Robert J. Burdette of California, the present vice president, Mrs. Sarah Platt Decker of Colorado, and Mrs. George H. Noyes of Milwaukee are those most prominently mentioned.

OPEN-AIR TREATMENT

State Medical Association Ready to Hear From Committee.

Indianapolis, May 18.—Arrangements have been completed for the meeting of the Indiana State Medical association in Indianapolis on Thursday and Friday of this week. The sessions will be of great general interest, as addresses and reports will be given on subjects of public concern. Opening remarks will be made by the president, Jonas Stewart, of Anderson, and a welcome will be extended the members by Mayor Holtzman. On Thursday afternoon the report of the committee on state medicine will be read by J. N. Hurty of Indianapolis, and of the committee on tuberculosis by Theodore Potter of Indianapolis. The latter report in particular, it is said, will be of especial importance, as the committee was appointed by the state association a year ago, and careful investigations have been conducted ever since. The out-of-door treatment of tuberculosis, as tried at the state hospitals in Massachusetts and other Eastern states, has received the closest study from the committee.

Re-elected Old Officers.

Indianapolis, May 18.—The annual election of officers of the Indiana Retail Furniture Dealers' association resulted in the re-election of the former officers, as follows: President, W. H. Messenger, Indianapolis; first vice president, George E. Feeney, Indianapolis; second vice president, W. W. Drapier, Converse; secretary and treasurer, D. N. Foster, Fort Wayne.

Bon Hurs in Session.

Crawfordsville, Ind., May 18.—The quadrennial meeting of the Supreme Tribe of Ben Hur is in session in Crawfordsville, several hundred delegates being present from the twenty-four states in which the order does business.

CROP CONDITIONS

Weather During the Past Week More Favorable For Farm Work.

Indianapolis, May 18.—The weather during the past week was favorable for farm work and much was accomplished. It was too cool for best results, however, there being but one day with mean temperature above normal, and the deficit for the week averaged 7 degrees daily. Frost was deposited on the 11th, no damage; freezing temperatures occurred in the north half of the state on the 16th, damage not known. Light showers on the 10th, 14th and 15th were generally beneficial.

Good progress was made in preparing ground and planting corn. With the exception of comparatively small areas of bottom land in the south portion of the state, which are still too wet to plow, ground is in good condition and easily prepared for seeding.

Oats are coming up slowly, but where up show good stands.

Spring sown clover also shows good stands, except that it was badly "bunched" by the March winds. Old clover, having suffered during the winter, is only fairly promising, and the fields are becoming weedy.

Timothy and pastures are doing fairly well.

Wheat in the south section is stooling and has improved in appearance, and in a few localities in the central and north sections, some fields of wheat are reported as promising slightly more than half a crop, but, as previously indicated in these bulletins, the acreage in wheat has been greatly reduced and that left standing, as a whole, is very unpromising.

Latest reports concerning peaches indicate that, notwithstanding all are killed in some localities and only seedlings are left in others, the prospect for that fruit is better than heretofore reported. The outlook for a crop of cherries is fair, and for all other fruit excellent.

The temperature has been too low for tobacco and tomato plants; they are small.

The average age of the Japanese navy is lower than that of any other navy in the world. No one over twenty years old is accepted for enlistment. The average height is 5 feet 4 inches—less than the average height of any other navy in the world.

Claude L. Clifton Writes Interestingly About Manila.

III.

FORT SAN PEDRO, ILOILO, P. I.
March 22, 1904.

In my wanderings around I met one of the calvary boys on the Bridge of Spain. He proposed we take a walk down Calle, Chino, (Chinese street) I gladly accepted his guidance, and we were soon going down a — well, I will leave it to your imagination; but don't imagine it to be anything like Chinatown in San Francisco, for that town has reached the climax of civilization, compared with this dirty oriental place. Here the side walks are about 18 inches wide. The roofs of the buildings meet the tops of the door frames; no windows are to be seen, and the doors are just high enough to admit the low stature of their native customers. We took the middle of the street. Through the doors we could see Chinamen perched upon a counter with their legs drawn up under them in true oriental fashion, smoking a long-stemmed opium pipe. They look contented and no doubt are saying to themselves that the man who said "Life is one long sweet dream" was a true philosopher. My friend said that if I would take the liberty to look behind the counter, I would probably see a half dozen or more chicks enjoying the climate of an opium heaven.

Although we took the middle of the street we were not afraid of being run over by any electric cars or automobiles, for here locomotion becomes an art and the big awkward caribou is selected to do this very artistic work, for which he is fully qualified according to all local requirements. He is to the Arab, or the dog to the hunter. He is about the only beast of burden in the Philippine islands and the only one that can stand the climate and work. The average life of an American horse over here is thirty months.

One thing that strikes the American visitor over here, as being mysteriously peculiar, is the laziness of both native and Chinese store keepers, and the ill attention they give their customers.

Of course, an American commands a trifle more respect and attention than anybody else for he has the reputation of being "muy rico" but even then I have taken it as an insult, thinking he did not want my trade. I remember my first experience in a Chinese store in Caliao. As I stepped in, a half dozen Chinks were in the room, indulging in some very loud vocal exercises. As I entered they all gave me a stoical stare as though regarding me as being a very interesting nationality but beyond that their interest was nothing, for they quickly resumed their talking.

They were all sitting on the counter smoking their dope, as usual, with the exception of one, who had elevated himself to a very prominent position on a shelf behind the counter. I wondered why one of them did not approach me and inquire into my wants. And then it suddenly occurred to me that perhaps none of them could speak English. Walking up to the nearest one I said: "Say, John, do you speak English?" "Yes, I shepleak 'em very small," he answered. "Then I would like to buy a pocket knife of you." "Oh, yis, one ducho one," he said, and commenced jerking some bananas off a shelf. "N'n, no, I protested, but for the life of me I could not make him understand. Then he handed me a Chinese-English dictionary, and said "you looky". I took the book and looking all through it the nearest I could come to pocket knife was table knife and pointed out the word to him. He looked at the Chinese character opposite the word and said "oh yis, me savvy" and departed into a back room, and then returned with a pair of chop sticks. I solemnly shook my head and walked out saying to myself that I would never patronize another Chink. But I have had to on several occasions since, or do without what I wanted.

During our stroll that afternoon, my comrade fixed his eyes on a sign, "Casa de Cafe". "Let's go in and have a drink," he said, "it will do us good after this long walk." Although I rightly translated it to mean "house of coffee" and thought it might be a trick to avoid suspicion by the police, so objected on the ground that I was not a drinking man. But he assured me that coffee and nothing but coffee was sold on the inside. We entered the hut. The proprietor, a Metizto, with his wife and several children, were squatted around a huge wooden dish filled with rice, and the rapid manner in which they made it disappear was wonderful to behold. "The Saints have you in their keeping, Seniors," said the Metizto, as we entered. (Which, by the way, is a very common way of greeting a person in the Spanish tongue.) "May the Saints protect you and yours," my friend replied, as we sat down on a bamboo bench. The room was dimly lighted, and could not even boast of a floor, for the hard earth had been leveled and beaten into service. I began to watch the progress of the meal with a little more interest than I ever did on the island of Panay, for they were doing it more in a domestic manner than the Viscayans. "Will the Seniors partake," asked the husband as he opened his mouth to receive a ball of rice which he had skillfully collected with three fingers. "For God's sake, tell him no," I said, taking a hasty look of disgust at the numerous black and dirty paws that were thrust in the mess. "No, gracias, yo tengo hambre," My friend responded, and then said to me, "It is not always polite to show the disgust you feel in an invitation to eat with a Metizto. He asks you to eat with him from motives of purest courtesy, and you should in the same courtesy decline with the same grace, the invitation was extended.

The American staff of life is bread as in most civilized countries, except in Italy, where macaroni is substituted. But with the Philippine it is rice and more rice, and with the higher class

It was amusing to see the way the children were allowed to devour their meal. They were allowed to eat all they wanted and were rebuked only when they made an attempt to crowd in the bowl. There was no yelling with passion. I have not during all the time I have been over here even heard a child indulge in a protracted cry, or give way in a burst of passion, as is common in the States. Yet they receive not one half the attention. Their life until ten years of age is free from medicine and schools, once or twice a day they are taken to the beach, bathed and taught to swim, and they learn it as quickly as ducks. Their fondness for it they never forget. Even the working man will take his bath regular every night, but will wake up dirty the next morning.

It is always "manana" (tomorrow) over here in this God forsaken country, and the convenience of the system lies in the fact that there is always another "manana" awaiting to take up the deferred responsibilities. If Providence had seen fit to remove that fatal word "manana" from the Spanish vocabulary and the Philippine mind, the Philippines might have had their independence today, or a favorable consideration of it.

Since my trip to Manila I am inclined to think I will not take my discharge over here. My regiment is under orders to sail for San Francisco via Honolulu, leaving Manila not later than April. If I am discharged in San Francisco, I think I will spend a few months in that state, and then stop at St. Louis on my way home.

NO OVERCROWDING AT ST. LOUIS

Ample Accommodations at Reasonable Rates.

The alarming and altogether erroneous reports which have been circulated from time to time regarding the probable overcrowding of visitors to the Exposition and the lack of accommodations may be entirely discarded, as the arrangements which have been made in the Cascade City are such as to provide good accommodations and entertainment for all who come.

Chief among the prominent hostleries which have opened their hospitable doors is the Inside Inn, situated actually within the grounds of the Exposition itself and erected under the supervision of the World's Fair Management. It is three stories in height, it is 400 feet wide, 800 feet long and contains 2,257 rooms in addition to its parlors and waiting rooms and a dining room and restaurant, seating 2,500. The Inside Inn is under the direct management of Mr. E. M. Statler, the well-known caterer of Buffalo, who maintains a high-class and uniform cuisine and service for everyone of his guests.

The Inside Inn is run on both the European and American plans at rates ranging from $1.50 to $5.50 per day. European and from $3.00 to $7.00, American, including admission in both classes. The range of prices being solely controlled by the size and location of the rooms.

The advantage of a large, comfortable and thoroughly equipped, home-like hotel right inside the grounds will at once be obvious to all who remember the long, wearisome journeys so often entailed, both at the World's Fair in Chicago and at Buffalo, by those who live some distance away from the Exposition. No admission fee other than the first one is needed, visitors being within the precincts of the Exposition all the time. They thus save all loss of time, expenses of street cars, etc., and are able to devote the whole of their time to the pleasure and enjoyments of the Exposition.

Reservation may be made for any date and full details regarding the many advantages of The Inside Inn may be obtained by addressing a postal card to The Inside Inn, Administration Bldg., World's Fair Grounds, St. Louis.

The bird is about twenty inches in length and very swift on foot, taking this means of escaping from its enemies rather than flying. Glant will mount this bird and place it in his collection. The bird was shipped alive and came through in two days.

Mrs. Lon Link very pleasantly entertained the members of her Sabbath school class of the Presbyterian church, Tuesday evening at her home on Perkins street. Those present were Samuel Trabue, Albert Fleehart, Wilbur Beale, Harry Carr, Birney Spradling, Charles Wilson, Joe Ong and Thomas Wallace. The features of the evening were the performances of Messrs. Beale and Trabue. Delicious refreshments of ice cream, strawberries, cake and nuts were served and it was then that the two afore mentioned gentlemen performed the feats of eating seven pieces of cake and all the rest that they could lay hands on. After discussing the topics of the hour, pro and con, the august assembly adjourned with thanks and best wishes to Mrs. Link.

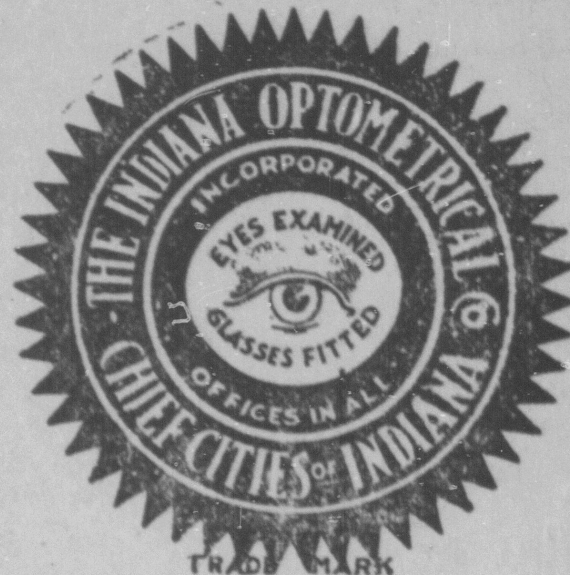

There are few able-bodied paupers in Holland. A tract of public land containing 5000 acres is divided into six model farms, to one of which the person applying for public relief is sent. Here he is taught agriculture, and is subsequently permitted to rent a small farm for himself. Holland also has a forced labor colony, to which vagrants are sent to do farm and other work, whether they like it or not.
